Muddiest Point Minute Paper

What is the most confusing or difficult topic this week? Provide an example and describe why it's confusing or difficult.

The most difficult part to understand this week was the C++ stuff that we were introduced to on Friday. It was really different looking at and I know that it is going to take some practice getting used to it and learning the way that it works the same way I did with C. Also, the constructors were a little confusing and hard to grasp. However, I think. looking through mp8 and the forthcoming lectuers will clear that up. As well as reviewing the discussion recording covering mp8.
